GreenLeaf Auto Recyclers Joins NABC as Diamond Level Member

Princeton Junction, NJ, August 19, 2009 — The National Auto Body Council (NABC) is pleased to announce GreenLeaf Auto Recyclers has committed to NABC at the Diamond Membership level, the highest level of NABC corporate sponsorship.

GreenLeaf Auto Recyclers provides recycled, remanufactured and reconditioned OEM parts to different collision industry customers throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico. Together with their sister company, Pick N Pull Auto Dismantlers, they process over 300,000 vehicles annually.

GreenLeaf and its parent company Schnitzer Steel, have an established track record at providing health and human services. This includes work with the Ronald McDonald House, Doernbecher Children's Hospital and United Way, as well as financial support of Red Cross and Mercy Corps relief efforts in the wake of Hurricane Katrina and the Southeast Asia tsunami of late 2004.

In addition to their humanitarian efforts, Greenleaf sponsored a fire fighter extrication conference in Dallas, donating close to 100 vehicles for life-saving training aimed at protecting both crash victims and first responders, individuals that often don't have experience extricating passengers from modern vehicles.

"Greenleaf's sustained efforts to be a good corporate citizen are impressive," says NABC Executive Director, Chuck Sulkala. "In light of their exemplary record working on behalf of the disadvantaged, it's no surprise they extended their involvement with NABC. Their fine network of industry contacts will greatly assist our membership efforts."

GreenLeaf participated closely with NABC last year when the recycler donated parts for NABC's Recycled Rides program, a unique community awareness project whereby NABC members—working with local industry segments and charities—repair and donate recycled vehicles to families in need throughout the United States.

"Recycled Rides was a call to action—a great opportunity for us to pitch in and help," says Mary Lou Silveira, Director of Sales and Marketing at GreenLeaf Auto Recyclers, "The more closely we worked with NABC, the more impressed we were with their mission, so we went forward to lend additional support by being a corporate member. Membership will provide us a great opportunity to learn about the industry segments that participate in NABC, their needs, and how our company can best address them."

NABC looks forward to establishing a long, mutually beneficial partnership with GreenLeaf Auto Recyclers. "When a company like Greenleaf steps up to donate its time and finances, we all gain," add Sulkala. "Our deepest thanks goes out to them for their involvement and contributions in improving the image of this industry."
